Eating disorder risk in weight management - a consultation survey

You are invited
to participate in a survey
to canvass opinions on the risk factors associated with the development of eating disorder
in weight management interventions.

The results will inform research activities of the EDIT Collaboration which aims to determine individual risk pathways for the development of eating disorders during weight management.

The survey will take approx. 30-40 minutes.

Access the survey below until 4 March 2022
